

Wingo's operation attains punctuality rating of 88.7%

- This indicator supports the fact that on-time performance is one of our main operational features.
 - 100% of our flights operated in January.
- We meet our user's expectations. With Wingo, you fly well without paying more.

Bogota, February 7, 2017

At Wingo we have a new reason to celebrate, and we want to share it we everyone: In January, we attained a punctuality rating of 88.7% and an on-time performance rating of 100%, which translates into 0 cancelations, allowing more Latin-Americans to be on time to discover the Wingo side of their holiday and business destinations.

According to strict operational results presented by the System Operations Control Center, Wingo fulfills the expectations of its travelers. This is further supported by Wingo's 88.7% punctuality rating in January. This result ranks at the highest level of low-cost domestic and international standards.

In addition, we have attained an on-time performance rating of 100% in all our scheduled operations. This is possible thanks to Wingo's commitment to service and the operational support provided by Copa Holdings. We are proud of positioning ourselves as an option that fulfills the expectations of our users, allowing them to fly well at low prices.

"We are very happy with this indicator, because it reinforces our performance promise. We want to deliver a product that meets the market's needs, while confirming that it is possible to fly well without having to pay more", says our General Leader, Catalina Bretón. "All Wingo staff is committed to customer satisfaction. This –together with the most modern fleet– creates the perfect mix for timely and safe operation".
